History

Bringing it to Life Questions
What are the stories?

How can we talk about this?
How does this fit in time?

Stories you and other people tell about daily life in the past. Personal, family and community stories.
What do you remember?
What do other people remember?
What is still here from the past?
When did this happen?

What are the stories?
What questions do we have?

Pose questions to speculate about the lives of others in the past?
What does this make you wonder?
What surprises you?
What confuses you?
What else do you want to know?

What questions do we have?
What can we use to find out?

Objects, photographs, books, oral histories, digital media, museums, community buildings and landmarks that reveal the lives and experiences of people.
Who can you ask?
Where can you look?
What has helped you before?

What can we use to find out?
How can we use this to find out?

Using sources to compare the daily lives of people in the past to our own lives.
What is this about?
Who said this?
Can what they say be trusted?
What do you predict?

How can we use this to find out?
How can we make sense of this?

Draw conclusions about the lives and experiences of people in the past. Identify and respond to a point of view about the past.
How do other people do this now?
What has changed?
What has stayed the same?

How can we make sense of this?
How can we communicate this?

Develop narratives to share thinking about the lives of others in the past through role play, written, oral, graphic or digital forms.
What do you want to share?
How will you tell a story about this?
Who do you want to share it with?
What is the best way to share this?

How can we communicate this?